there is no trouble in placing it in Mattapoisett. Just for the fun of it see if you can place the other locations before you turn to page 6 where they are identified. This area is filled with chances for attractive landscapes for the photographer. All you have to do is hunt on foot so that you can really study the subject and compose your picture through the view finder so that you get a balance and variety. Anyone can be an artist with a camera and it is an endless source of pleasure.

MATTAPOISETT JUVENILE GRANGE MEETING

The Mattapoisett Juvenile Grange held its bimonthly meeting Friday night with the worthy master, Barry Denham, presiding.

Joseph Bradford, deputy of the Massachusetts State Grange, was present and congratulated the Junior Grange for the many fine projects they are participating in.

Under new business the master appointed a committee for ways and means, who will conduct a traveling food sale at an early date. This committee comprises Marilyn and Carolyn Lewis, Christine Bence, Kathy Alves, Joanne Pierce, Jane Harris, with the master as chairman.

Doris Fearing, chairman of the Home and Community Service Committee, reported 25 Thanksgiving napkin rings and napkins were made by

Those who will weave squares will be Doris Fearing, assisted by Kathy Alves, Carolyn and Marilyn Lewis, Steven Kelley, Dale Fearing, Joanne Pierce and John and Joseph Alves.

During the lecturer's hour, Marilyn Lewis, lecturer, presented Miss Denise Spirlet, youth chairman of Sippican Pomona, who organized games for the Juniors.

The mystery package game was won by Kathy Alves.

Others receiving prizes from Miss Spirlet were the boys' team for the turkey trot, the girls' team for break the balloon and Marilyn Lewis for musical chairs.

invest in a savings program at the same time. The savings stamp program was initiated by the Rochester Parent-Teachers Association under a voluntary basis with P-TA members in charge.

At the October P-TA meeting Mrs. Edmund F. Arruda, president, presented the executive board's recommendation of having savings stamps sold at the school with a P-TA member in charge relieving a teacher of the responsibility. Unanimous approval was given the recommendation by the membership and approval was granted by the Rochester School Committee. The savings stamps are available for the pupils every Friday in the school library with Mrs. Percy Parent in charge.

To eliminate the trouble of a pupil bringing in his money one day and receiving the saving stamps the following day, the P-TA voted to purchase the first order of stamps. Therefor a pupil receives his stamps on the day of the purchase. In the past a pupil would many times lose his stamps when it became a two-day project.

Mrs. Charles H. Savaria, Jr. will serve as alternate sales lady for the saving stamp program. The program is especially favored by the pupils because upon the purchase of a saving stamp or stamps the pupil is issued an astronaut certificate.

125 Years Ago -- 1837

April 17 (Monday) The third Town Meeting in six weeks was held, as voted at the Mattapoisett Meeting, in the Town House at Rochester Center, and again a great flow of horses and carriages and people streamed in from all directions. It must have been a lively scene--the carriages standing at all angles on the green, in the fields, and along the roadway; the horses champing and stomping and tossing their heads; knots of men in constant movement and gesture and dispute; men crowding around the school house munching crackers and cheese handed out by the Rochester Center folk; men inching their way into the ancient --and far too small--Town House.

The meeting quickly turned into another test of strength. After Dr. Robbins opened the meeting with a prayer, Capt. John Atsatt of Mattapoisett, as he had given notice, moved for reconsideration and adjournment to Mattapoisett.

But again the total voting strength of the three villages had turned out, and again the crowd had so jam-packed the building to overflowing that it was impossible to take a vote within doors. So again, while the old men were kept in the building, all the younger men were sent out, this time across the road and through a bar-way into a field. The votes of the old men were counted as the men filed out the door; the votes of the others as they walked back through the bar-way into the road.

Evidently the Rochester Center folk had politicked successfully since the Mattapoisett meeting. Although the total number of votes was about the same, this time, instead of the close 299 - 296 tally, the vote was 324 to 279 in favor of holding the town meetings in the Town House at the Center.

It might be thought that the Mattapoisettites would have given up after this substantial defeat; but they succeeded in getting a vote passed to adjourn the meeting to the next Monday and thus give them another chance. It was at this point that the weather took a hand in the matter. (To be Cont.)

100 Years Ago -- 1862

All during May and June, townsmen in the army saw savage fighting in Virginia, ending with The Seven Days' Battles (June 26-31) and McClellan's withdrawal of the Federal Army.

July 4, Mrs. George Purrington, Jr. wrote in her diary: Discouraging news from our army at Richmond on this our "Independence Day".

Like all the people in the North, Mattapoisett men and women had to learn the bitter way that it was going to be a long, hard war. The Federal Army had taken severe beatings; the slaughter had been appalling; hospitals everywhere were filled with wounded men. Two weeks later, the first of the town meetings was held to vote bounties for volunteers, and the following month Mrs. Purrington records:

August 6, There is great excitement now about drafting. I have read in the Times today, that good old Massachusetts will probably send her quota of men, without resorting to drafting. (Mrs. Purrington's feelings were those of all wives everywhere in war times: patriotism plus worry for her husband.)

August 7, I feel rather anxious about this drafting, but will try not to borrow trouble--We can only leave such matters with a higher power.

August 12. Geo. will stand his chance of being drafted, and I feel almost as if he were.

August 13. The papers are more encouraging tonight--drafting will not commence until the first of September.

August 20. There is still a prospect of drafting and I am afraid Georgie will have to go.

FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE MEETING

Routine business was conducted at the regular monthly meeting of Hilltop Friendship Circle, with the president, Mrs. Marian S. Hatton, in the chair. The invocation was given by the chaplain, Mrs. Marjorie Wilson.

The members' project was a clean-up day of the Sunday School rooms, following which basket lunches were enjoyed, and the president was surprised by the presentation of a decorat-

Dear friends,

It is not at all uncommon for individuals to make complete arrangements for their own funerals. We believe this indicates a gradual change in the public's attitude.

In the minds of many there is nothing dreadful about a departure which is on the schedule of every life. And we believe that modern methods now practiced in our profession have done much toward creating this change of attitude.

ed birthday cake, made by Mrs. Wilson. Happy Birthday was sung and cards given to Mrs. Hatton, following which ice cream and cake were enjoyed.

A gift of several boxes of stationery was received from Mrs. Ruth Martocci, and nine soup spoons from Mrs. Ethel Johnson, a member, whose grandmother, a Saunderstown, R. I. Quaker, formerly owned them. Resolutions on the death of Joseph L. Hiller, Mrs. Martocci's father, were read and ordered spread upon the records of the Circle.

Mrs. Lillian Johnson, good-will chairman, reported cards sent to several shut-ins.

It was announced that the sixty-fifth marriage anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Newell will be observed at an open house, to be held in Marion Grange Hall on Sunday afternoon, December 9th. Mr. Newell sometimes sings tenor with Mrs. Hatton, soprano, at Quaker meetings.

Several members volunteered to donate refreshments for the Christmas party to be held for the Sunday School children. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Edna L. Borden have made scrapbooks to be donated to a hospital for crippled children. Other Christmas projects will be making cookies at the December 18th Circle meeting, to be distributed to shut-ins in nursing homes, and small donations to underprivileged persons. Members will exchange 50¢ gifts at the December 18th meeting.

The secretary, Mrs. Borden, reported having read several editorials in the Congressional Record, showing disapproval of the building of Kinzua Dam, which has displaced the Seneca Indian Tribe, and which broke a treaty signed by President Washington.

Mrs. Borden was authorized to write a letter to the President of the American Broadcasting Company, protesting the recent program of Howard K. Smith, "Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon," on which Alger Hiss was permitted to sit in judgment of Mr. Nixon, former-

1962 CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN UNDERWAY

The 56th annual Christmas Seal Campaign is now underway and approximately 60,000 Christmas Seal letters have been mailed to residents of Plymouth County.

Mr. Shirley A. Peterson, president of the Plymouth County Health Association, pointed out that the traditional Christmas Seals have long been a symbol of the continuing fight against tuberculosis and through the years a great deal of progess has been made. In this day of many campaigns, drives and special efforts, it is possible for some people to lose sight of one or the other of these campaigns. All of the campaigns are important but the Christmas Seal campaign is especially important because it deals with a problem of health, a concern for everyone in our community Association has endeavored to serve the people of Plymouth County through our year-round program. During 1962, Christmas Seals have supported a number of programs in Plymouth County. Some of these services were as follows: promoting educational information to the general public regarding tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, rehabilitation of ex-TB patients, grants to medical schools for teaching TB to medical students, research grants to eliminate tuberculosis as a public health menace, scholarships to nurses and public health workers in the towns of Plymouth County. In addition, Christmas Seal funds enabled over 9,000 persons to receive free chest x-rays and over 22,000 school children throughout Plymouth County received free tuberculin tests.

When you buy Christmas Seals, you are contributing to the support of these programs and to the eventual eradication of a major disease which each year strikes far more people than it should. No respecter of race or color, this destroyer flourishes most in areas where there are more undetected cases at large for those without the disease to come in contact with. The immediacy of this danger cannot be minimized.

A contribution mailed to the Plymouth County Health Association is a contribution to help improve the health of the entire community. Buy and use Christmas Seals - put them on all your mail and packages this year. Answer your Christmas Seal letter today.

HEART FUND CHAIRMAN NAMED

Jerome Rosenfeld, Boston publisher, civic leader and founder of the Boston Arts Festival, has been appointed 1963 Heart Fund chairman in Massachusetts, it was announced by Dr. Joseph M. Hayman, MHA president and dean of Tufts University School of Medicine.

As head of the month-long February campaign, Rosenfeld will direct organization of a fund-raising effort in which nearly 100,000 Massachusetts residents will actively participate.

Climax of the campaign will come in a four-day, statewide, house-to-house canvass ending on Heart Sunday, February 24.

Heart Funds raised in Massachusetts and across the nation make possible life saving programs of research, education and community service.

"The Heart Association is fortunate in its choice of Mr. Rosenfeld as its 1963 fund chairman," Dean Hayman declared. "His dynamic and public-spirited leadership in the civic, professional and artistic life have meant much to the State."

Accepting the appointment, Rosenfeld pledged a hard-hitting campaign reaching the length and breadth of the Commonwealth.

"Every citizen who wishes, in a spirit of enlightened self-interest to join the fight against heart disease, must have his opportunity to do so," he said. "Heart disease is by far our foremost health problem."

A resident of 41 Lee Road, Chestnut Hill and graduate of Brown University, he has headed the Jerome Press for the past 29 years.

He was founder of the Boston Arts Festival, has served on the Mayor's Field Day Committee, the Mayor's Civic Progress Committee and the Governor's Citizen's Participation Committee. He is a trustee of the Institute of Contemporary Art and the Boston Opera Association, treasurer of the Boston Arts Center and an executive committee member of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Rosenfeld is married and has two sons.
